It Will Be Necessary to Raise a l of the Provisional Army Au-thorized by Congress. Shall Bear Strictly the Char-acter of Friendly Counsel.

Otis Has Not a Sufficient Number Ien to Compel the Filipinos to Sur-render—Outlook for an Early Peace is Very Gloomy. Washington, May 31.—The situation in the Philippine sizands as described in recent dispatches is such as to make it almost necessary to raise at least a part of the provisional army authorized by the last congress, if the United States expects to secure complete control of the archipelago. The administration has been brought to realize that it is no longer war and diplomacy in dealing with the insurgents, but plain war. Diplomacy and the peace commission must take back seats until the enemy has been completely whippel and forced to surrender. Gen. Oits has not a sufficient number of men to accomplish this end. It is more than the control of th

Part 3 deals with an international commission of inquiry. It provides as follows:

in the United States in order to augment Gen Oits forces in the Philippines.

Those opposed to organizing a provisional army favor sending more regulars to the Philippines gud also enablesting some of the peaceful Filippines. But another element in the war department is opposed to half-way measures in dealing with the situation. They no organize the president too for the provisional army, so that it may be organized, trained and sent to the Philippines in time to begin an aggressive campaign in the early autumn. Wasinstories, May 311—The war department has important news of some character from Gen. Oits which it refuses to make public. It is denied, however, that the missage contains anything of an alarming nature, but rather that the information it furnishes is of a character that demands executive attention rather than that of the public. Messages of this sort have been received amost daily, and it is the established rule of the Alger not to give out for publication that which he thinks should be withheld. course to arbitration."

Part 3 deals with an international commission of inquiry. It provides as follows:

In cases of divergence causing international litigation on local circumstances which can not be settled by ordinary diplomatic means, but do not involve honor or vital interests, the governments interested agree to institute of the commission of fact. Each government interested shall appoint two members of the commission. These four shall choose a fifth, who shall be president of the commission. If the voters are divided as to this, an appeal shall be made to another government or to a third party to appoint a president. "After the investigation, the commission shall submit a report signed by all the members to the government interested. The report shall in no wise have the character of an arbitration judgment, but shall lear the conflicting parties at full liberty either to conclude a friendly arrangement on the basis of said report or to have reconflicting parties at full liberty either to conclude a friendly arrangement on the basis of said report or to have reconside to a print of the said in the mutal relations between nations."

The Russian proposals are followed by a code of arbitration indicating procedure on these lines: "The tastisful connected therewith.
